Wood Forces Claim Victory in Committee Selections While The Lowden Boom Grows

Party Nominee May Not Be Known Until Saturday; Radicals Get Every Chance To Be Heard To Bar Excuse For Bolt

CHICAGO, June 9.—The Republican national convention was in session only an hour today and devoted itself entirely to routine preliminaries. The temporary organization was made permanent, the report of the credentials committee was approved with the changes made last night, some of which reversed previous decisions of the national committee. For its second day, session, the convention heard a woman, Margaret Hill McCarter, Kansas, the first woman to address a national convention.

The platform committee was not ready to report and sent word that it was making progress.

Clumney M. Depew entertained the convention with a brief address and apparently the convention management had decided to do away with the string of speakers who in previous years have entertained the convention while the committee were working, for there were no other "entertainment" speakers on hand.

The next session will be at eleven o'clock tomorrow morning.

The rank and file of the convention voters always like a lot of music and oratory and this year they are certain to get it. "Saturday noon, at the earliest," is the estimate of leaders when asked when adjournment may come.

The delay is more attributable, to platform difficulties than to uncertainty over a nomination. The word has gone out to give the radicals every chance to present their views and stop any possibility of a charge stream rolling, or as some call it, an "excuse for a bolt." And until the platform is built there will be no one named to stand on it. The fact that more than half of the delegates are uncommitted has added to the list of nominating speeches. There are three or more for some and in a few instances six or more speeches in sight for each candidate. Between these speeches and the platform contest it would not be surprising if the actual nominations of the ticket would be carried over till Saturday.

The reply to inquiries as to "what's in the air" on vice president are met with the unanimous response: "Nothing; it depends on who is put over to head the ticket."

But there are a lot of budding candidates for second place with all of the leading figures for first place dodging. To those who flatter say they "will not take it" the reply is that "we heard that from Theodore Roosevelt, Charles Warren Fairbanks, and others and we'll see."

Huge Meteor Falls

OKMULGEE, OKLA., June 9.—Geologists were expected to examine today the huge meteor which fell and burned itself out near here last night after lighting the skies over several southwestern states. Hundreds of persons in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma, watched the meteor's flight; reports received here said. Scores of motor cars clogged the roads leading to where the burning mass fell.

Tulsa reported that when it passed over that city the meteor appeared to be within a few hundred yards of the earth and that the lower and heavier portion was of a greenish blue color followed by a long wedge shaped tail. As it approached the earth, the report stated, the head apparently separated into four parts, but remained together at a mass, and that during the last few seconds of the fall the southern sky was lighted with a blue green flash.

C. B. Smith, an astronomer authority at Muskogee, said he believed the meteor was thrown off from a destroyed planet between Jupiter and Mars as it appeared to travel from west to east.

"Demands" Presented Republican Convention By Organized Labor

CHICAGO, June 9.—Vigorous opposition to federal legislation similar to the Kansas industrial court measure, to unrestricted immigration and to the use of injunction proceeding in strikes, was contained in a set of "demands" which Samuel Gompers and Matthew A. Woll, of the American Federation of Labor, submitted today to the resolutions committee of the Republican national convention.

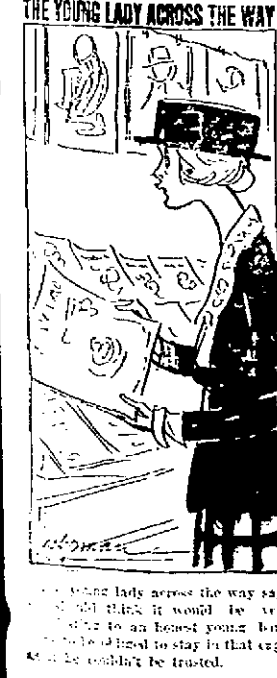

"Legislation which proposes to make strikes unlawful or to compel the wage earners to submit their grievances or aspirations to courts or to governmental agencies, is an invasion of the rights of the wage earners and when enforced makes for industrial servitude and slavery," the statement said, regarding the Kansas law.

Later phrased itself, it added, to uphold the federal law protecting its rights against "unwarrantable harassment of writs of injunction, either prohibitory or mandatory."

"It is essential," continued the statement, "that additional legislation regulating immigration should be enacted based on two fundamental principles, namely, that the law of immigration must not at any time exceed the nation's ability to assimilate and Americanize foreigners coming to our shores, and that at no time shall immigration be permitted when there exists an appreciable degree of unemployment."

Other demands included:

Immediate relief from high cost of living; extension of the farm loan act to give credit to all properly New Jersey Mark W. Potter, of New York, organized cooperatives and individual farmers; issuance of a monthly state check, to be members of the federal farm bureau; prompt federal investigation of the cost of manufacture of staple articles; prompt federal investigation of the cost of production of staple articles; prompt federal investigation of the cost of production of staple articles; prompt federal investigation of the cost of production of staple articles.

13 PERISH, MANY HURT IN COLLISION OF TRAINS

KILLED ON 50th BIRTHDAY

NEW YORK, June 9.—New York Central officials here said that Martin Doyle, engineer of the express that crashed into a passenger train near Selah yesterday early today, had run by three signals in need of death at his post on his fiftieth birthday.

He disregarded a distant signal 1 1/4 miles from the standing train, they said; then passed a home signal, three quarters of a mile from the passenger train and finally ignored the flagman of the passenger train, who had gone back with a red lantern.

Railroad officials announced that the block signals had been inspected after the wreck and found to be in working order and set against train No. 31.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 9.—Thirteen persons were killed and 21 injured today when a train of express cars crashed into the rear end of a passenger train which had stopped about two miles from Schenectady because of engine trouble.

All but one of those killed were asleep in two pullmans at the rear of the passenger train. Martin Doyle, of Albany, engineer of the express, died at the scene, one hand being fast to the throttle when his body was found in the wreckage.

The passengers killed were:

Mrs. Watson H. Browne, Utica, N. Y., her 12-year-old grandson, 10-year-old daughter and her 20-month-old grandchild, Marion Crouse.

Seven unidentified men.

One unidentified woman.

Nellis M. Crouse, father of the children who were killed, was severely injured with another young daughter.

C. Robinson, flagman on the train, gave the following version of the accident:

"I went back 30 car lengths and saw No. 31 coming toward me and I stayed in the middle of the track as long as I dared. She kept coming and did not blow her whistle. I waved my red lantern and threw the red flag into the cab as it whizzed by. I didn't see the engineer do anything."

Just before the crash came the fireman on No. 31 leaped from his cab and escaped serious injury, but Doyle, the engineer, was pinned under the wreckage and killed. Rescuers said his hand had to be pried from his throttle.

The explosion shook the city like an earthquake and seriously damaged shipping. The Haku Maru was destroyed and the fire spread to a score of gasoline-laden junks, which drifted blazing out to sea, their crews shrieking for help.

Somebody Likely To Get Scalded In G. O. P. Political Pot

Says Abe Martin

CHICAGO, June 9.—Special to The Times—Morning broke again here today. With the possible exception of a standard bearer for the great Republican party only a few hours away, reliable political authorities are agreed that the Congress Hotel is overcrowded. "I ain't had my shoes off for three days 'cause it's so hard to find 'em again," complained a delegate today who looked as though he might have come in from the trenches of the war work, but for no other reason. No inkling of what might occur during the day marked the convention opened. If anything was put over behind closed doors during the day, those political observers have had no inkling of it at least there was no saying anything about it. This is the first day since I arrived here that those political observers have not talked freely. On the surface everything seems lovely. Optimism continues to reign supreme in all the camps of the favorite sons of the General Wood. Washington correspondents, in preparing their copy for the wires, are saying that some one has been nominated, or that it may be any one candidate in the big field of favored aspirants. But in so far as regards that concerned the candidate may have been named at 2 o'clock this morning as far as they know. Of course, no political writers are handicapped and powerless to nominate a candidate till the convention has acted. The convention has reached the point where we've got to put up or shut up. We're waiting for the unexpected. The matter is out of our hands, and the future of the great Republican party now rests with the convention. We've shown it all the pitfalls and pointed out the safe way around. If all the many factions of the party are satisfied with the action of the convention today, on Thursday, or the next day, or the day after, the party may win in November. On the other hand if the convention proceeds on the theory that any one kin win in spite of everything, Tom Marshall or Bill McAdams may smile from a low-shelf, flag-bedecked altar at the margin of crowds that'll throng Pennsylvania Avenue on the fourth of next March. Political conversations at funny things. I've seen in Chicago a man who's been taken to hundreds of big political leaders and I've been asked by the nearest kind of close observers, "an' I ain't been able to find out anything. I ain't met nobody that knowed any more than I knowed, which is as follows: That a great Republican National Convention was held, that Lowden, Hardin, Wood, Johnson, Gooding, Hoover, et al, and Hamilton, was candidates for presidential nomination; that Murray Crane and Boise Proroe were working together that national justice was not bettering anybody; an' that in some way somebody was going to be nominated. There's been lots of enthusiasm, conjecture, speculation, more drinkin' an' in widely scattered spots, optimism, an' everything, but no concrete thing. I've seen three lines who's in the accelerated for president on the Republican ticket is as deeply shrouded in mystery as who's going to be the vice presidential nomination. I've seen who Hiram Johnson, if he were elected, would be a candidate for president. Those who are closely linked to Johnson, an' know him well, say that in the event of his election, he will go before the people an' have the deliberations of the convention set aside, and nominate himself. Hon. Victor Trout, a delegate from the Pacific Coast, released an interview this morning in which he said, "I hope this session will be a mistake. We've

THE LEAGUE PLANK STILL UNDEFINED

TURN TO PAGES FIVE AND EIGHT

Additional news of the Republican National Convention will be found on Pages 5 and 8.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The League of Nations plank still was undefined today twenty-four hours before the Republican platform was to be presented to the national convention.

Members of the sub-committee of thirteen when they went into session to smooth out the remaining platform troubles, expressed confidence that they could agree, but all of them were somewhat hazy on how it was to be done.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, head of the sub-committee, maintained that in the end the Indiana plank with some modifications, would get the support of Republican elements. Senator Borah, of Idaho, and McCormack, of Illinois, thought there would have to be material modifications to pacify the irreconcilables. The mild reservation group also wanted changes made, but in the opposite direction.

Holding the predictions of an agreement, however, was a feeling in many quarters that the league question must not be permitted to reach the convention floor, where every one realized it might set off fireworks of a destructive nature.

Aside from the treaty issue, most of the platform material was in such shape that only the finishing touches had to be added by the sub-committee. There still remained to be determined however, some details of the Mexican declaration and some questions of policy regarding industrial relations.

While the thirteen were in deliberation the remainder of the resolutions committee of fifty-three, were receiving in open hearings the advice of labor leaders and others on a wide diversity of subjects.

Delegates that the Republican party take an "unqualified" stand for enforcement of the fourteenth amendment and against continuation of the "reign of lynch law" were made by a delegation headed by William H. Lewis, negro former assistant United States attorney general. He urged a congressional investigation looking to a reduction in the national representation in congress from states where full enfranchisement has not been allowed the negro.

Edward H. Wright, Chicago negro, who spoke on the demands also, declared that none of the claims made had come "from us as supplicants for we come as your brothers and your equals."

Questions of taxation must be among the first to be given consideration of the Republican party if it would retain the confidence of industry.

James A. Emery, general counsel for the National Manufacturers' Association told the committee in laying before it the organization's claims for attention.

CONVENTION NOTES

"A heap o' the hysteria no noticeable among certain wings o' the party has been engendered by the style o' tactics adopted by the leaders o' the opposition. It has produced a popular excitement that inhibited the attention due these conservative statesmen's candidates. Tell 'em that," said a fiery westerner, wearing a wing shot's hat, to me, as he bought a couple o' newspapers—one for each pocket.

"There may be no yesterday's in the Republican party, but there's several other years," said a fat, ruddy, light wine and hair mixture, wearing a Palm Beach suit that must have been made by a tailor an' swimmer company.

"I'm not for doin' anything for the protection o' the American business man, with collars rollin' for seventy-five cents; Ninth District, Pennsylvania, cigars at fifteen cents, an' later takes fifty cents the quarter dozen," said a little town delegate wearing a campaigner with a belt, at the great Northern, today.

CLAIMS HE SWALLOWED GLASS; RUSE TO SECURE MORPHINE

Dr. Koelner, a prisoner held at the county jail on a charge of forgery, created quite a commotion among the other prisoners Wednesday by announcing that he wanted to die and declaring that he had swallowed a quantity of powdered glass to bring himself to that desired result.

Dr. W. W. Smith, jail physician, was promptly called by Sheriff Rickey when he was advised of Koelner's declaration, but an examination of the man disclosed that although he had swallowed a small mirror into his stomach he had not swallowed any of the glass and had simply used that as a ruse in an effort to get morphine, to which drug he is addicted, it is said.

Holy Redeemer Picnic To Be Held On Thursday

Tomorrow, Thursday, the weather permitting three hundred school children of Holy Redeemer school will picnic at Millbrook Park. This annual outing, including eating and drinking, is one of the happiest days enjoyed by school children.

The children of late have been admiring the pretty faces of boys and girls, indicating something akin to a circus, baseball, merry-go-round, well filled baskets of delicious goodies is anticipated. Just now the most popular man of the hour is the man who has twenty-five gallons of frozen sweeteners to cool the parched tongues of romping children.

The Chicago National Convention with only thirteen presidential candidates competing for the greatest prize on earth, in comparison with children's games, pales into insignificance. The children's picnic is the only real happy day on earth.

The school teachers and parents will be on hand after dinner to look after the children and to help make the day a happy one. After seven o'clock comes tomorrow morning the pastor will give each child present a half-cent street car ticket.

Conservatives Declare War On Johnson; Will Fight His Nomination To The End

James W. Faulkner in today's Chicago Herald-Examiner says: "No change has been made in the contest for the presidential nomination through the actual opening of the sessions of the Republican National Convention. There is no end in sight, and as for the past fortnight, predictions are as valuable as prospectuses of mining stock."

Whatever impression the fantastic demonstration of last night by Senator Hiram W. Johnson and William E. Borah may have caused has been dissipated. At least the yeasty foam has subsided and the grim, straight-forward processes of the professional politicians are being pursued.

It has been said frequently that this is not an emotional gathering. It is intensely serious—so much so, in fact, that the meeting this morning was so devoid of enthusiasm or color as to cause the critics to dub it as being funeral. Even its defenders called it tame.

This, however, was perfectly natural. The delegates and the leaders have not come here to indulge in ghost dancing, but to make sure of obtaining the mandate from the American voters to assume charge of the National Administration.

There are factors of the situation that may be arranged in the form of summaries:

1. The decision of the strong combination that is backing Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, to put his venture to the touch to win or lose it all will be carried out directly after the balloting begins. These two experienced veterans of many a fiercely fought campaign, Alvin P. Hart of Kentucky, and Joseph R. Keating of Indiana, confirmed the assertion tonight. Frankly they know not where they will turn if the drive fails, although they will not be destitute of opportunity for new alignments.

2. It is more apparent now than ever that the conservative leaders do not propose to permit Senator Johnson to be nominated. Their only concern is to perform the task of deputation neatly and expeditiously, and without causing too much uproar.

The flat rejection of his aid and camp, Senator Borah, for the Chairmanship of the Committee on Resolutions by an overwhelming vote was a sample of the feeling that exists. The second dose was the ignoring of the "Old Guard," but necessity compelled the assertion that it still is in control of the fortunes of the Republican party.

Lowden Still in Lead.

Upon the surface one does not perceive numerous changes in the plans for support of the presidential candidates, but they undoubtedly are being made, although in a lesser amount than the members of the aspirants will concede. Lowden is, as he always has been, the strongest of the three leaders, and it is known with a degree of definiteness that he has obtained a substantial allotment of the 250 instructed votes that the professional industriously have been organizing for effective employment. It is felt in his camp that the time for action has arrived, and the sooner the battle can be joined the better for his interests, as the agitation of the primary election scandals is injurious.

ST. MARY'S COMMENCEMENT A SUCCESS

Tuesday night nine graduates, seven girls and two boys, of the St. Mary's High School received their coveted diplomas, a capacity audience attending the commencement exercises held in the Portsmouth high school auditorium. This was the second public commencement to be held by the school this year, the second was a decided success.

Rev. Father Edward Sylvester Berry of Athens, delivered the class address, presenting a message of truth that contained many words of advice for the students leaving school to enter upon life's many duties.

Splendid music was rendered by the school orchestra and school choir. The seven special numbers delivered by the school orchestra of fourteen pieces, twelve string instruments, piano and cornet won instant approval of the large audience. Six girls and eight boys composed the orchestra. The numbers played by the orchestra included Patriotic Patrol, A Lullaby, Midnight Waltz, America's Finest, and The Beautiful Ohio, Gallant Heroes. The orchestra also played the accompaniments for the chorus numbers, Welcome Sweet Spring Time, The Choir, Angelic, For-Got-Me-Not, June Time, and Flag of the Shiver. The ability so keenly displayed by the orchestra in the greatly varied program of music rendered reflected much to the credit of the music department of this school. The harmonious singing by the large group of students including the graduates brought forth more praise for the classical department of the St. Mary's high school.

The stage was beautifully decorated with baskets of flowers and large ferns. The sweet girl graduates looked pretty in their dainty frocks and each wore a corsage bouquet of tea roses, the class flower.

Father T. A. Goebel introduced the speaker of the evening Father Berry, in his remark he said in part, "This evening my dear people we congratulate these young people who have reached their goals through hard and earnest efforts. They have attained their goal not only by their own efforts but by the assistance of the good Sisters and their parents. The Sisters have sacrificed much to give their lives to teach the young people of our land, they have given up all worldly pleasures to give their very lives to the training of these young people. There are over 124,000 pupils in our schools in this state alone and over five million dollars are contributed each year to the support of these pupils and schools while our people are also giving to the upkeep of the public schools.

"We must realize what education is. What is education? Education is an attempt to realize an ideal of life. Today a man is valued it seems by his worldly treasures. The old saying, Kings into the East and commerce rules the west holds good in this case. We want an education for a living, we want one that we can take to the bank and cash. It is faith and faith alone that gives us education. Faith keeps us up, keeps us going ever forward to better things. Keeps us working onward to our ideal. In the end it means all Christian Education. Education, true education consists of making man more Godlike. An animal can be trained to receive education. He has power of his own actions whereby he can develop his freewill, he has powers of understanding.

"Ordinary schools are to develop your own inner powers. Then you can develop and build your own power. Vocational schools are the places for learning a trade, not the ordinary schools. A learned man is not necessarily an educated man. A person that can't use his power or reasoning is not educated. It takes a man with reasoning to think and judge."

"Another important thing is will power. Men of success in this world are men of will power. For this reason we must have discipline. It is the first thing the soldier has to learn, to learn to obey. A man who can obey can use his will power. Our discipline army went over there and did things the undisciplined armies could not do. Lack of discipline is the cause of so much unrest in the country today. A man who is going to be a success, one who is going to rule must first learn to obey. The purest and truest man is the one who submits to discipline."

"In order to have thorough education, we must have a development of the intellect, then a development of our will power and then comes the question, where are we going? Every man must have a motive, a motive for everything he does. What is the motive underlying our actions? The motive tells us where we are going. The only motive for any action is for happiness. That is the final motive for all of our actions. This is where religion comes in. Some people find happiness in the wrong place, some expect to find it in worldly pleasures. Faith and religion alone can give us proper motive. What is wrong with the world today? The trouble is that too many are trying to make a world or heaven here."

"What will satisfy the people of this continent, of the world? Religion, the honest faith and religion is the answer. Why should a man be honest and pure? If he does not have faith, religion is not something to be learned, it is something that must be learned. That is why we have our own schools in order to develop all the power and faculties. I am sure and I hope that these young people will slow in later years the training they have received. Some people with a little education think they don't have to work, but that is a mistaken impression. I hope they carry the lessons they have learned all through life with them, the road to find them on the pathway leading to eternal life."

Father T. A. Goebel then spoke a few words of congratulations to the class and spoke of the classical course the school now offers. He also touched on the need of morality in religion with education.

The graduates who were then presented with diplomas were: Julia Frances Brennan, Clifford Frances Bickel, Nellie Cecilia Meisel, Margaret Mary Compliment, Emma Cecilia Gegenbauser, Margaret Mary Fre, Leona Agnes Simon, Edward Francis Schmauck, and Kathryn Frances Beaumont. Gold medals awarded by the Honorable Typewriter Company were given to Misses Brennan, Meisel and Compliment. Diplomas were given by the Twentieth Century Bookkeeping Company went to Misses Brennan, Meisel, Compliment, Simon and Beaumont and Messrs Bickel and Schmauck.

The school diplomas were tied with ribbons of white and azure the class colors. The exercises were brought to a close by several chorus numbers and a number by the orchestra.

Rumor Nominates Johnson

Strange, yea, very strange, how reports and rumors both true and false will get started.

Somebody evidently got mixed up, or turned around, or something, as this telephone conversation will easily confirm:

"Hello, Portsmouth Times?"

"Yes."

"This is Manchester, O., calling. Who was nominated at the Republican convention yesterday?"

"Nobody. The convention doesn't nominate until Thursday or Friday."

"Huh! Is that so? Some man blew in here from Winchester last night and said Hiram Johnson had been nominated early Tuesday evening. Goodbye."

GLAD HE IS SERVING "OLD GLORY"

Mrs. R. F. Creech of Hadden has received the following letter from her son Private Ogra Creech of Camp Vail, New Jersey.

Camp Vail, New Jersey.
Dear People:—Although I cannot tell you today in person, I am with you in spirit. For on this day May 20th, my mind goes back to the many happy times I have had on old Mt. Joy.

But no other Decoration Day has had the meaning that this one has, for today I stand not afar off from the flag but in it, and under its stars and stripes ready to do all in my power to protect it. Any man who comes here for the service and goes out of it with no reverence for flag and country is dead to citizenship.

Many times since I have been here in camp, in fact every time, heart's souls in the evening, my best thoughts as I believe, does every true American.

When retreat is sounded every man must be in formation and every one must face toward the flag as far as the formation will allow. The birds come and every man expects to salute. Then the soft strains of the Star Spangled Banner is played, no Old Glory is lowered to rest. How much this means to me. It ought to mean is evidenced by your own love of country. I am proud that I am serving under such a favorable flag for such a noble country.

I did not write for this, certainly, the years it is been my dream to be a part of the service. My dream has materialized and I am not very old and yet I feel as if I have done my duty. Not that I have done it, but that I have tried to do it. I have seen some good men in K. P. work, if some of you do not know what K. P. means in the

A Terrible Goitre

Relieved for Troy Lady by External Home Remedy

Never it would be feared to publish these statements if they were not true.
Mrs. Dot Cox, 4 No. Market St., Troy, O., says in her own home paper, the Troy Mirror: "I used Seidel's Goitre Cure a year ago and it has completely relieved me of a terrible goitre. I was so short of breath, could not use my arms for reading or sewing, could not sleep, I was so nervous and my heart would jump out of my chest. My throat would throb and choke me. Could not wash or wrap at all. Was in bed part of the time. I have been doing my washing, and all my own work since last summer. My whole system is stronger and my throat does not bother me at all. I am as well as I was before I had goitre. If anyone cares to write me, I will be glad to answer."
Seidel's Goitre Cure comes in small bottles containing enough for most cases. It will not stain or irritate. Does not interfere with regular work. Takes parts in healthful, normal condition. Requires 15 minutes daily for further information at Seidel's Drug Co., drug stores everywhere, or write Seidel Co., Mechanicsburg, O. — Ad.

MISS DOLLY WISE

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—How should you wear a flower on Mother's Day? Some say you should wear it pinned up and some say you should wear it down. Which is right? I saw in the paper this other evening when we are asleep, that some are wearing it. What about when we are awake? Are they wearing it then?

SCHOOL GIRL.
The carnation is worn straight up on Mother's Day—the red for the living and the white for the dead. Dreaming is a partial activity of the mind in disturbed or unusual sleep. In sound and healthy sleep all the faculties of the mind and the muscles and organs under control of the will are at rest. In dreaming, the will, judgment and perceptions may be inactive, and the imagination active, and sometimes the memory. It follows, therefore, that a dream is really a hard mental work while asleep.

Dear Miss Wise—I don't love strawberries but they make me sick every time I eat them. Do you know what I can do to prevent this?
MISS STRAWBERRY.
The way to make strawberries desirable to those who are unable to eat them is very simple. Cover them with a very large allowance of powdered sugar and then squeeze over them one, two or three lemons according to quantity. The lemon juice helps to get the strawberry flavor more than anything else, and its acidity counteracted by the large quantity of sugar. The lemon juice should be in the same proportion as cream would be in the place of which it is used.

Dear Dolly—Do you know of anything that will remove sunburn from the face and arms?
JESSE.
Wash the face at night with either milk or buttermilk, and in the morning with weak lemon tea and a little can do wonders. This will soften the skin and remove the redness, and will also make it less liable to burn again with exposure to the sun.

Miss Dolly Wise—I am fifteen years old and weigh 105 lbs. I am about 5 feet, 4 inches tall. I have brown eyes and brown curly hair. Now Dolly do you think it would be alright for a boy to walk home with me from a dance if my girl friend was along. And do you think it alright for my girl friend and I and two fellows to go out on Sunday and take pictures?
L. O. E.
You are entirely too young to go to dances but you might go for a walk on Sunday afternoons if your mother does not object.
Loonose Chums—I do not know of any one you can get.
Meet me at Nye's Fountain.

WHAT more wonderful thing in the world is there than the hair of a girl? It is the crown of her glory, the glory of her life. It is the one thing that has held him in its thrall. What more beautiful thing is there than the girl with long, thin, strong hair, that hangs above all things for that worship that has never been here. Therefore, what greater news could there be than the news which now comes from one of the largest and oldest and most reliable pharmaceutical houses in America that the cause for practically all hair troubles has at last been found and the remedy discovered. No less a concern than F. A. Thompson & Company, who have manufactured medicines for your physicians and druggists for over a quarter of a century, have discovered the remedy that will not only destroy dandruff, but also the germ that causes dandruff and itching scalp and itching hair and that this remedy is also a wonderful food for hair in producing a new and remarkable luxuriant growth and a beautiful glossy appearance. They have conducted tests for a period of over four years on thousands of heads and have guaranteed that this remedy, which contains no alcohol or chemicals and therefore can be used daily, will produce results that you can see within a matter of days. They not only guarantee this, but they allow you to return it if you are not satisfied and get your money back in case you yourself are not satisfied with the results produced. They have given this remarkable discovery a trial by a large number of people and have called it FAMO.

Closing the day's celebration of the Fortieth anniversary of the Foundation of the Woman's Home Mission Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Children's Missionary organization of the Bigelow M. Charming simplicity marked one of the prettiest June morning weddings of the year, when Miss Emma Hermon became the bride of Mr. Edward Meador, Wednesday at 9 o'clock, at the First Evangelical parsonage, with Rev. S. Linkmeyer officiating. In contrast with the formal evening wedding, the bride was a picture of refreshing girlhood, in a tasteful frock of shirred white organdy built over heavy white satin. A large white hat and accompanying accessories completed the bridal costume, which was becomingly set off with a shower of brides roses. Miss Mary Hermon, was the only bridesmaid. She formed an attractive foil for her sister, attired in pale lavender organdy with a hat to match. She carried an armful of fragrant La France roses. Mr. Albert Meador was the best man, he and Miss Hermon being the two only attendants. After the ring ceremony the wedding party were served breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Meador, Seventh street. Yellow and white formed the decorative scheme at the Meador home where the happy couple received congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Meador left this morning on a motor trip to Cincinnati and Columbus. The bride is the daughter of Mr. John Hermon, and for the past eight years has been a popular stenographer at the Standard Supply company. Mr. Meador is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Meador, and is well known as an N. and W. machinist. Upon their return to this city, Mr. and Mrs. Meador will go to their already furnished home at 1711 Grandview avenue, where they will receive their friends. The bridal bouquet was placed on her mother's grave in Greenlawn cemetery.

WILL SET ASIDE; NEW TRIAL IN CASE ORDERED BY JUDGE

When the jury in the case of Frank L. Sikes as guardian of Mary Penberton-Luther, an incompetent, against Henry Siltner and others, returned a verdict in Common Pleas court Tuesday afternoon setting aside the will of William Penberton, World War soldier, Judge Thomas promptly granted a motion offered by attorneys for the proponents of the will, setting aside the verdict and granting a new trial. The motion was sustained by the court on the ground that the verdict was against the manifest weight of the evidence.

The jury deliberated on the case nearly an hour before reporting with its verdict in which the entire panel concurred. Robert G. Bryan was for- man.

Pemberton died Dec. 23, 1919, leaving his estate, consisting of a $10,000 war risk insurance policy under his will to his uncle, Henry Siltner, Lakeside man, but the policy was taken out in the name of the testator's slater, Mrs. Luther as sole beneficiary. Silt was then brought on behalf of Mrs. Luther to set the will aside on the grounds of want of mental capacity and undue influence. This was strenuously denied by proponents of the will and strong evidence was adduced at the trial to combat the contention of the contestant.

There appears to be some question whether the government will pay the insurance money to as distant relative as Siltner, who was an uncle of Pemberton by marriage, even though the will is eventually sustained as the policy, it is claimed, limits the beneficiaries to closer kin.

Attorneys Hanson & Hanson for the contestant and Attorneys Blair and Blair and Harry Ball for the other side.

MRS. WILSON TAKES TREATMENT USES REESE FORMULA R-11 WITH GREAT SUCCESS

Overcomes Disorders Of Long Standing By The Use Of Famous Remedy

Mrs. Maude Wilson, who resides at 111 Ocello Street, Clarksburg, W. Va., says she has taken a barrel of medicine without relief. One bottle of Reese Formula restored her and in the statement below she tells how it accomplished its work.

"My stomach and kidneys have given me trouble for a long time," said Mrs. Wilson and I believe I have taken a barrel of medicine, but none of it ever did me any good until I began taking the Reese Formula R-11. I have suffered terribly from indigestion, kidney trouble, nervousness and loss of appetite. I couldn't sleep and hated to think of eating, knowing full well the way I would suffer if I did. I have taken but one bottle of the Reese Formula R-11 and it has put my system in such shape that I can now eat anything. My kidneys feel fine, I have no indigestion and I feel better generally than I ever thought it possible to feel. I want to recommend it because I know it to be a wonderful remedy and hope that sufferers from stomach, liver or kidneys will give it a trial.

There is relief waiting for you who suffer from stomach, liver or kidney trouble if you will go to your druggist or Fisher and Stetson Pharmacy, Portsmouth, W. V., or Trip & Co., Sciotoville, McCurdy's Wheelersburg, Jos. H. Brant, Lucasville, R. B. Wilson, Pike-ton, Schaus's Pharmacy, Tetrick's Pharmacy and J. C. Dowling, Waverly, J. W. Big Damage Suit Filed

TRONTON, June 9.—Lidia Anderson as administratrix of the estate of J. D. Anderson deceased, has brought suit in Common Pleas court through Attorneys L. E. Cunn and W. L. Ekins vs. John Burton Payne, director general of railroads as agent, asking damages in the sum of $15,000, as the result of the death of her husband, J. D. Anderson, on the night of January

In her petition the plaintiff sets out that J. D. Anderson and some forty others living in this county, were employed at the Norfolk and Western shops in Kenova, W. Va., and with the consent and approval of the defendant company and the director general of railroads, used the Kenova bridge in going to and from their work. It is set out that the bridge is a double track structure a mile in length and dangerous for pedestrians when trains are going in both directions.

That on or about the 21st day of January, 1920, about 9 p. m., decedent carrying a lighted lantern in his hand started across the bridge on the walk between the two tracks, being on his way to work; that after decedent walked a short distance on said board walk a freight train approached in a northerly direction on the west bound track and in order to prevent being struck by said train stepped upon the east bound track and continued on his way, when a wreck train entered the bridge from the Ohio side and running at the rate of about 40 miles an hour, without sounding bell or whistle or showing a headlight or any kind struck decedent hurling him from the bridge and killing him instantly. Negligence on the part of the defendant company and its agents is alleged and damages asked in the amount above stated.

"ABANDONED BABY" GETS BABY BUGGY

With the element of mystery still in the arms of Mrs. Anderson and surrounding the abandonment of the little ten day old baby in the orchard back of the home of Will Anderson, between South Portsmouth and Fullerton, Kentucky, Times men again visited the scene of the abandonment Tuesday evening, and went over the ground in hope of turning out some overlooked clue which would lead to a solution of the affair.

The little baby girl was easily restilled sweetly upon the two visitors. The child's eyes, which seemed to have contracted a severe cold from the exposure Friday morning, are improving and the little miss is now able to look around and observe her new surroundings.

The Lewis Furniture Company of Portsmouth has sent a hand-some new baby buggy to the Andersons, and Mrs. Anderson expressed her gratitude for it.

"I feel sometimes that I want to know who the parents are," Mrs. Anderson said Tuesday evening, "and sometimes I feel that I don't want to know."

A reward of $25 has been offered by The Times for any clue that will solve the mystery.

Glad He Is Out Of Army

CAMP SHERMAN, June 9.—"The glad I'm out of the army," said Carl Cadden, Camp Sherman's Cave Man, when he was discharged from the army Tuesday. His discharge came through yesterday, having been recommended on the grounds of mental incapacity. Cadden was drafted in 1918, and was sent to Camp Sherman, where he became homesick and walked 25 miles to his home, where he lived among the hills for two years in fear of being shot as a deserter if he returned. Recently he walked into camp and surrendered himself.

Engineer Fatally Stricken

CHILLICOTHE, June 9.—Just as he was preparing to leave home to take his regular run on the R. and O. John D. Cadden, veteran engineer and well known citizen of this city, was stricken with apoplexy and died Tuesday.

Cadden was well known along the line. He was a member of the St. Mary's Catholic church of this city and the brother of locomotive engineers.

Few Bricks Came From England

The late George Alfred Townsend established beyond controversy that, while there may have been a few isolated instances of cargoes of bricks from England, not one colonial house in fifty, for which such claim is made, included English bricks in its composition.—From a letter in the Baltimore Sun.

JUDGE'S TESTIMONY MOST CONVINCING

Says that He Takes Pleasure in Reporting That He Was Benefited by Nerr-Worth

"I have used several bottles of Nerr-Worth and take pleasure in reporting that I have been greatly benefited by its use and I therefore recommend the medicine."—A. D. McCorkle, Mr. McCorkle was formerly judge of police court, Charleston, W. Va., and is a highly respected and well-known citizen of that city. A statement such as the above, coming from a man such as Mr. McCorkle, carries great weight. Nerr-Worth has been endorsed by men and women in practically all walks of life. They praise it because it does the work Nerr-Worth's disposition, whets the appetite, neutralizes poisonous acids, drives out impurities, gives new force, restores mental sharpness, cures other ill attending stomach and nervous disorders. If you suffer or your condition is run down, do not hesitate to take the Nerr-Worth way to health, as millions of others have done before you. It will help you and if it doesn't help you, after you have taken a bottle according to directions, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

Sold in a money back guarantee by Finner and Smith Pharmacy and all leading druggists everywhere.

To Increase Production

The Reliable Tractor and Engine Company has inaugurated an aggressive sales and advertising campaign on the Reliable 30-50 Kerotona Tractor. Statistics show that a follow-up, two-cycle tractor such as the Reliable, is best suited to the requirements of the majority of farmers. The Reliable sales force is being increased to 25 men working direct from the factory. The dealer's contract has been broadened and the discounts are more liberal than formerly. Results of the new policy are already apparent. Reliable Tractors are now being shipped into Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York. Arrangements are being made to increase the factory production to take care of the increased business which the outlook indicates.

Ill Health Often Due To Neglect of Kidneys and Liver

Many organs take part in assimilation of food and a number are active in eliminating those portions of the food which are not taken into the blood for the rebuilding of the body. Of these eliminative organs, the liver and the kidneys are of major importance, and are most likely to be overworked and become diseased. When such is the case, various troubles of a digestive and eliminative character occur and such troubles are so frequent and so common that it is absolutely necessary to find some relief. Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy to help equalize the work of both kidneys and liver. How successful it has been is evidenced by its widespread sale and its value is attested by an immense number of appreciative letters who through these many years have put it to the severest tests with the most satisfactory results.

The experience of multitudes is sometimes worth more than the wisdom even of the brightest physicians. Hence, if you have liver or kidney troubles, you can not do better than call upon your druggist for Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy. In a short time the pain left you, and my urticaria cleared up and the rheumatism and dyspepsia vanished. We have used Warner's Safe Remedies ever since with great success in our family. O. P. Rose, Burlington, Kentucky, O. S. A.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy contains no harmful ingredients and should be used when the kidneys need attention.

Sold by Warner Bros. and druggists everywhere. Sample sent on receipt of ten cents. Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 593, Rochester, N. Y.

THE LONG ARM of MANNISTER

WITH HENRY B. WALTHALL

FROM THE NOVEL BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM
DIRECTED BY BERTRAM BRACKEN
PRODUCED BY NATIONAL FILM CORPORATION

The Exhibit Theatre Offers as its Attraction for Tonight, One of the Biggest and Best Productions Ever Made—E. Phillips Oppenheim's Astounding, Absorbing Novel "The Long Arm of Mannister" With Henry B. Walthall, the Star of "The Birth of a Nation"—A Big Act—Special Musical Setting.

The management of the Exhibit Theatre takes great pleasure in offering as its attraction tonight, the wonderful and long waited for photoplay, "The Long Arm of Mannister" starring Henry B. Walthall and taken from the novel by E. Phillips Oppenheim.

It is a story which deals not with the suggestion of dramatic possibility, but instead with the fundamental impulses of human nature in their essence, as the ground work of its plot. It is new in theme, unusual in treatment, and starting in development.

In the form of a swift moving picture.

Man and Work. It is far better to give work which is above the man than to educate the man to do above their work.—Huskin.

Man and Work. It is far better to give work which is above the man than to educate the man to do above their work.—Huskin.

The action of the story takes the audience from the vast wastes of the desert, over oceans, through cities of crowded avenues and heartless indifference to the somptuous palaces of the aristocracy.

portant of subjects has been woven into a romance as pure, as tender, and as sweet as a mother's love—and as interesting and thrilling as life itself. It is a photodrama you should not miss. Bring your sons and daughters to see it too. Prices for this engagement are within the reach of everyone. Adults 25 cents and children 10 cents. A Rainbow comedy will be the added feature.

Things are Going Fast and Furious at the Strand Tonight and Tomorrow With Tom Mix on the Screen in One of the Best Plays Yet, "The Cyclone."

"The Cyclone," the newest Tom Mix release, is aptly titled. The picture has all the temptations and thrills one might expect to find along with a real cyclone. It is an excellent example of the outdoor type of melodrama which travels at high speed and leaves off all sorts of heroics and villainous intrigues. It is impossible not to find it interesting.

Tactful Youngster. Mother bought a box of candy, but it was nearly dinner time so would not give any to Sonny. While waiting for the dinner bell to ring Sonny said: "Mother, let's play store." Mother was willing so the child went on with his game of make-believe. Said he: "This room will be the candy store. You be the clerk and I'll be buying, but, oh, mamma, let's have real candy!"

Tennis a French Game. Tennis is a French game which in the twelfth century was played with ball and bat on horseback. Later the horses were dispensed with. The game was very popular in England in the sixteenth century when rackets first came into general use. Before that the hand was used for batting.

Many Victims of Mania. Six hundred women were executed for witchcraft in France in 1692.

"The Thirtieth Piece of Silver"

"The Thirtieth Piece of Silver," A Fascinating Blend of Mystery, Romance and Humor Featuring Margarita Fisher and King Baggot is the Good Attraction at The Exhibit Theatre Tonight—Also Wm. J. Flynn Picture.

Local movie fans will have an opportunity to see "The Thirtieth Piece of Silver" at the Exhibit Theatre tonight where it is featured as the special attraction. When King Baggot told his wife that she might open six doors of his palace at will, if she would promise not to unlock the seventh, that very human dame naturally felt no interest in any but the seventh door. When Tyler Cole told his bride that everything of his was hers to command, except a certain cabinet, she rested not until she had explored its mysterious shelves. The key of her Sheraton desk turned the trick. And then a lot of curious things happened, involving an antique crystal gazer, a spicy escapade, an astounding confession, a regular Christmas stocking of surprises and thrills and laughs—a fascinating revelation of the methods of professional fortune tellers. Its a whole of a picture with Margarita Fisher, King Baggot and Forest Stanley leading a distinguished cast. Don't forget the Exhibit Theatre tonight and don't miss it. Another thrilling adventure of Wm. J. Flynn, the famous detective will be the added attraction.

IODINE HEALS RUNNING SORES, QUICK RELIEF

Old Sores, Abscesses, Boils, Itching, Chronic Ulcers, etc., are best treated and most quickly healed by the application of Iodine, says a well-known authority who also states that the wide spread use of Iodine in treating medical cases, has thoroughly proved its great value. He warns, however, against the use of common tincture of Iodine, because in this form it irritates and stains the skin. The new form of Iodine—Lanolinized Iodine—is the best for such purposes. This comes in the form of an ointment and is practically stainless, will not irritate, and is readily absorbed by the tissues. In the Lanolinized form, Iodine is easy and pleasant to use and every disagreeable feature has been removed. It quickly penetrates, soothes, cleanses, and heals and is really delicious. Nearly all local druggists, including J. A. Hauer and P. M. Streich, now sell and recommend Lanolinized Iodine. Try it. We have nothing you have ever had will prove so effective and safe.

Certain fish of the South American tropics are known to leave the shallow ponds to seek larger and cooler stretches of water when the sun threatens to dry up their late habitats. They spend whole days and nights upon their march, and travel by hundreds through the moist undergrowth of the forests.

Tempered With Mercy.

Even the girl who gets mad when she is kissed by a man is also as merciful enough to remember that "perhaps the poor fellow couldn't resist such a temptation."—Houston Post.

Sciotoville And Wheelersburg

One of the most delightful affairs of the season was held Thursday evening when a large crowd assembled in the M. E. church to participate in the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the Women's Home Missionary Society. A very interesting program was rendered and was planned by Mrs. Ralph Gilmore and Mrs. H. C. Moore. The meeting was called to order by the president of the society, Mrs. Ross Turner, who gave a brief history of the Home Missionary Society which was first organized in Delaware, O., on June 8th, 1880. The program follows:

Violin Solo—Richard Bennett, with Mrs. Winifred Bennett as piano accompanist.

Soprano Solo—Mrs. Ed Sealy with Miss Maurine Sikes as piano accompanist.

Reading—Mrs. F. W. Chase.

Soprano Solo—Frances Hatstead.

Girls' Chorus—Soprano Soloist, Miss Edith Williams. Piano accompanist, Miss Marjorie Purdy.

Concluding the program the audience adjourned to the basement where the four tables were arranged in the form of a Greek Cross, which were adorned with large bowls of pink roses. In the center of the table was a pedestal on which was a large cake, the wide spread use of Iodine in treating medical cases, has thoroughly proved its great value. He warns, however, against the use of common tincture of Iodine, because in this form it irritates and stains the skin. The new form of Iodine—Lanolinized Iodine—is the best for such purposes. Also the Queen Esther Girls served a cafeteria lunch to the guests. The proceeds to be used for the benefit of the Home Missionary Society.

Clarence Foranish of Finsburg arrived Monday, having been called here on account of the serious illness of his father, Wm. H. Foranish of Main street.

Miss Caroline Reuben of Fourth street, who has been ill some time is able to be up again which is pleasing news to her many friends.

Miss Katie Rowley of Main street, who underwent an operation Tuesday morning at Hempstead hospital, for appendicitis, rallied nicely and is getting about as well as can be expected.

R. B. Reed of Center street has gone to Cincinnati and Shiloh for a several days visit with relatives.

Mrs. Robert Todd left Tuesday for Detroit where she will join her husband, after a several weeks' visit with their mother, Mrs. Martha Reichen of Market street.

PENNY ANTE

What is expected to be one of the most thrilling baseball battles of the season will take place at Millbrook Park, Sunday afternoon when the R. and O. club of Chillicothe will clash with the N. and W. team of this city. Both teams are leaders in the Industrial Leagues of the two cities. The R. and O. team has won all its games and seems to be the class of the Industrial League on Paint Creek. The N. and W. team has lost only one game and is expected to be one of the best ball teams to beat the Chillicotheans. The game will be called at 3 o'clock, new time, and it is thought the Industrial League fans will be out in full force and bring power to root for the Titans. Much. It is likely Pitcher Townsend, of the Solvay team, will work for the bunch, in which event practically all of South Webster and parts of adjacent territory will be down to see their famous citizen tip the scales.

It will be recalled that Cole's All Stars will journey to Zanesville Sunday to battle against the Mark Graves of that city. In order that the fans may have their appetites satisfied, the game between the N. and W. and Chillicothe club was arranged for Millbrook Park.

Well, the Reds started their Eastern invasion with a defeat, but they put up a hard struggle and were beaten in the eighth, 5 to 4. Fisher was no puzzle to the Giants. Sadler, however, gets credit for losing the game as the winning run was scored while he was in the box.

CINCINNATI, O., June 9.—John Heggler, president of the National League on the witness stand in the United States district court here today in the suit of Lee Magee against the Chicago National League Club for $2,500 claimed to be due him for salary and possible bonuses under his contract of 1920, testified that Magee came to him and President Veck of the Chicago club on February 10, 1920 and "confessed."

"Magee's confession to me and President Veck," Heggler said, "was given at midnight on February 10, 1920, in a room in a Chicago hotel. He told us that he wanted to make a clean breast of the whole thing and to send himself back into the game."

Heggler said Magee told him and Veck that Hal Chase had tempted him to gamble on the game and that Chase had forced money on him.

The testimony of President Veck of the Chicago club was similar to that of Heggler's relative to the Magee "midnight confession."

Games Scheduled

Wednesday, June 9.—Drew vs. Arch Preservers.
Thursday, June 10.—Excelsior vs. S. & W.
Friday, June 11.—Drew vs. Solvay.
Saturday, June 12.—Steel Plant vs. Arch Preservers.

Fighting with that desperation that bespeaks real gameness, the Solvay bats, backed up the superlatively pitching of Mr. Townsend in faultless fashion, came through on the long end of a 4 to 1 count against the N. & W. team at the Seventeenth street yards last evening, before a crowd of sufficient proportions to decide a presidential election. Mr. Waits, small but compact, and using that underhand ball of his, with the grace of Mr. Magee, of the Yankees, was sloughed with considerable freedom, but at that was the victim of some bad blunders on the part of his backers, superinduced by some unwhisky breaks. The game should not have been so one-sided had the Railroaders kept their heads up and played the game of which they were capable. The Solvay boys did not overlook a single bat, playing a great defensive game and taking advantage of every kindness shown them by their opponents. Incidentally the Railroaders were minus the services of two of their star players. Frank Keyser in right and Wazzer Rickey, the all around athlete. The latter started the game, but left before it was half over, owing to an urgent business engagement.

That women have begun to show their power and now feel right at home in politics is shown by the fact that Miss Ethel Davidson McKinney, special representative of the Republican women's national executive committee succeeded in seating a number of Oklahoma women delegates at the national G. O. P. convention. Above are four of the Oklahoma women leaders.

Mrs. J. C. Pearson is president of the Oklahoma Republican organization of women. Mrs. Allen is a niece of Colonel Cody. The photo was taken after their victory at the convention.

The Portsmouth Golf Club has been challenged by the ChillsBrook Golf Club for a series of games and they will be arranged shortly.

Games will be played in both cities. In the first tournament held here this season, Chris Hecr won the first prize and Martin C. Clark the second. Much interest is being shown in these well played tournaments and they will be continued enthusiastically.

"There is a big revival in golf all over the country and our club is in line share. Great interest is being manifested in all events," George E. Krieger, one of the prime boosters of the club and chairman of the Handicap Committee, said Wednesday.

Scout Charley Barrett of the St. Louis Nationals is in the city to get a peek at some of the town boys in the Industrial league. He is making a trip through this section and came here presumably to get a glimpse of Hode, who has been performing sensationally for the All Stars and the Selby team. Barrett was formerly one of the stars in the big league.

After visiting home folks and browsing around old friends, Manager Al Bridwell, of the Rocky Mount team has returned there. He has been doing a little scouting for his club, which is in need of two pitchers. Bridgely says all the teams in the Virginia league are drawing well.

The All Stars will leave on the early N. & W. train Sunday morning for Columbus, where they will take a limited traction into Zanesville. On Sunday afternoon they will meet the Frank team of Pottersville. Later on Zanesville will play in Millbrook. Homer Cain and Outfielder Dilts, old favorites here, are with the Zanesville club.

THE GRAIN IN THE CHAFF

ACCORDING to all reports, Chicago is a haven of oratory, presidential candidates, managers and spellbinders of every degree, contributing to the confusion of a convention that is unboxed and without a leader worthy of the name.

In all the glittering generalities and noise Senator Harding seems to have contributed the only quiet bit of substance and sense. He told an assemblage that the outcry against high prices was wholly futile in itself. The scarcity in the necessities of life must be cured by a great individual and collective production.

Truer and more timely words can not be spoken. Scarcity of any article in common demand makes for its greater price. That fact is indisputable. Equally true is it that the price can not be lowered by outcry and only remotely affected by legislation. The permanent cure is first more production and second less consumption. If the thing be a vital necessity, something for which there is no nearly equal substitute a lessened consumption will not be of essential effect, the demand is so far in excess of the supply that even rigid economy does not work a proportionate reduction.

However, discussion of Senator Harding's utterance is scarce profitable at the present moment and it is sufficient to recognize that he has discovered to the public a golden grain in a mass of chaff.

DECREEING THE EXPECTED

THE federal supreme court has unanimously sustained the validity of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution—national prohibition—and affirmed the constitutionality of the so-called Volstead act, the statute which provides the manner and means of enforcing the amendment.

As to whether was anything else to be expected. No constitutional amendment has ever been nullified by the nation's highest tribunal and the trend of the court has ever been to sustain legislative action affecting intoxicating liquors.

It has been persistently urged, since prohibition was enacted, that it was not being observed and reply sometimes made to this that the officials were awaiting determination of the courts on the whole subject before taking steps for enforcement. For the one there was a basis of a society of fact, for the other there should have been none. Liquors are still illegally made and there are places where it is sold in lawless defiance, some quite open. But it was not to be expected that millions would suddenly change their habits and practices, and, of course, cupidity would naturally tempt others to take a chance. On the whole, though, the people generally have accepted an accomplished fact in good spirit and the very fact that intoxicants are selling for ten and twenty times the price they ruled at in license days is the most conclusive demonstration that there is a fair degree of enforcement.

Our conviction has always been that were prohibition enacted, it not only could, but would be enforced. So far we have neither seen nor experienced anything to cause any doubt to the contrary.

FOR WHAT ARE MEN DYING?

A PECULIAR situation exists in Europe. Russia is at war with Poland and Ukraine. According to cable reports, vast and well equipped armies are engaged on either side and terrific battles are being fought.

The strangeness of the situation lies in the condition that no word comes from either side as to why the bloody quarrel. A vague hint has been thrown out that the Bolsheviks are seeking to subjugate Ukraine, which seceded from All Russia when the general collapse came, just as did the north and eastern parts and there is a half admission that Poland has attempted to seize territory that the Bolsheviks regard as being peculiarly their own.

There may be and again there may not be some substance in both or one, but the outside world would like to know what is the situation and exactly what provoked it. Not altogether is it going to be content in the mere naked information that Poland and Ukraine are striving against the common enemy of mankind. The world thinks well enough of both to wish to know what is the truth about them, that is to say it wishes some confirmation of the faith that it is in and is getting a trifle shaky because there seems to be some sort of a conspiracy to keep the understanding of the situation away.

The Chicago convention is not without its humorous features. For instance there is "Jake" Harmon, candidate for president. You don't know Jake, neither do many other people, for that matter, for he is to fame unknown, though fortune has smiled upon him abundantly and suddenly, and because of the latter are vast aspirations born in his heretofore humble bosom. To shorten the story "Jake" appeared in Oklahoma concurrently with the oil boom and he struck several gushers and over night found himself worth more millions than he often was cents. His engaging quality is shown in the fact that he was originally a Wood booster and you know they were all qualified through the size of their boodle. After being elected a delegate to Chicago he fell out with Wood and remembering the size of his Wood contribution, and there was more where that came from, his fellow delegates promptly "favorably mentioned" him for president. Jake bit and thinks that is what he really is, but he isn't. He is a camouflage, a smoke screen for the Oklahoma delegation. And, think of it brethren, such are the high and noble resolve of the leaderless and unboxed delegates, who are assembled at Chicago. Isn't it to laugh! Especially when we see further the fellow, who glibly admits he took money from both Lowden and Harding managers, re-elected national committeeman.

A federal expert predicts five dollar wheat and three dollar corn before another year rolls around, basing his forecast on a two-thirds crop of wheat and three-quarters of corn. All we have to say is that he has his figures on the yield too liberal.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

COUSIN CECIL STILL REMAINS A PROBLEM

Wonders will never cease; neither will events. At one of the stuffy stations that our train stopped at I decided for a breath of air, and while standing pensively on the platform, I heard my name called in a strangely familiar and masculine voice. I looked up—and there stood Cecil himself, waving frantically as he ran down towards me.

I confess that I almost passed out from excitement and fright. The boy was certainly mad or something akin to that, to dare to follow me after all that had occurred at home. Still, may be you can imagine how I thrilled at the thought of his reckless courage! I did for I am true female all through.

There was nothing for me to do under the circumstances but to stand rather coolly and look my ardent young cousin up and down—questioningly. This I did. Did it bother him in the least? It did not. Say, little book, everything I do seems but to thrill him and egg him on. I fancy this is the real form of true love. It's terrifying to the very young.

Dear, oh, dear, that mad boy just in some way found out that I was being sent up to Boston, in solitary confinement, or words to that effect, and he simply couldn't see it, and decided to follow me. Now that he is here I do not know what is to be done with him. I am finished for at least a week out at home. No one, not even Aunt Cecelia, would believe that Cecil is merely a darling Sir Galahad, destined of helping the lady of his dreams.

In her hour of trial. On the contrary, I as well as Cecil will be accused of crimes that are—well, unmentionable to say the least. I am up in the air. And all that Cecil worried about was whether or not we'd have a chance to elude the relatives at the Back Bay station, when we arrived! This promise to lead to a tragedy before long. And frankly I do not know how to manage a man like Cecil.

Well, one blessing was that he got me into the Pullman, and I traveled in peace for the rest of the way. He sat opposite and just decoupled me with his eyes in an embarrassing way. It kept reminding me of those hot kisses of his, and of the possessive way he has of holding one to him. I fidgeted and blushed under his gaze, and he seemed happy as a lark at the signs of my discomfort. Men are truly queer animals. Oh, very animal—some of them.

Cecil told that the family has no idea that he is on his way to Boston, for he got the train before I did, and in fact watched me being led by the family to my particular car. He told me also of how dad and mother had nearly come to blows over me, and my growing indifference to the conventions—and of how mother said she would not have a daughter of hers trailing her name through the dirt, come what may. At this father, it seems, got provoked, and told mother that some mothers simply drove their daughters to desperation, etc., etc. I'm glad I have such a loyal champion, I can tell you.

The family thinks that Cecil has gone to visit some friends in Philadelphia, which is in an entirely different direction from my own. However, there is never any knowing just how much the family does really know, or suspect—that's what a family is for, after all, I think. Dear, oh, dear, that provoking Cecil is part of the family proper (he, improper), and he sits and stares at me; and I know not what to do with him at all, nor with myself, which is worse.

BILLY WHISKER

One morning three months later, Billy Jr. appeared tired, cold and hungry, in front of a ranchman's door, and was first seen by the Chinese cook, who opened the kitchen door of the long adobe house to see what the weather was like. There was Billy by the well, trying to get a drink out of the almost empty bucket on the well-curb.

Billy's first thought when he saw the Chinaman was to run away, for he had been so ill-treated lately—shot at, stoned and half-starved—that he had lost some of his assurance and confidence in people and preferred to look friend of the Chinaman. Never in his life had anything tasted so good and refreshing as that cool drink of water after his long, dusty trip across the plains and mesas.

For a day and a night Billy Jr. had followed a wagon trail without passing a human being or habitation, and when he saw this ranch-house it was indeed a welcome sight. He was tired, lonesome, hungry, and discouraged, and he knew that he must go back to the little town by the railroad the last settlement he had met with. If he did not soon find a house and some living thing, man or beast. He could not endure the dreary solitude another day.

He preferred the town to this, even if the boys did tie tin cans to his tail, the women chase him with broomsticks or throw hot water on him when he tried to steal a meal from their kitchens, and the cowboys aim at him to see how near they could come without actually shooting him. Once, when he stopped to get a drink of water from a trough standing outside of a saloon the cowboys caught him and forced him to drink some beer, which made him feel dizzy and as if the side-walk were flying up and going to hit him in the face. And, oh, my! what a splitting headache he had all the next day! It made him wonder how people could drink such nasty, bitter stuff when they could have pure, clear water instead, and he thought if they had to pay for a drink of water, perhaps they would crave it.

After those experiences, do you wonder that Billy was glad to find a friend in the Chinaman? (Tomorrow Billy Jr. explores his new home.) Copyrighted by the Standard Publishing Co., Akron, O.

His First Thought

Topham's was the smartest emporium for miles around. Keen business men filled every spot. One afternoon an unfortunate customer fell down the first floor stairs.

"Help!" he groaned. "I believe I've broken my leg!"

A shopwalker immediately flew to his side. "Broken your leg, sir?" he inquired sympathetically. And then, in sharp, clear tones: "Cork legs! Third counter on the right, sir! Forward, Miss Davies!"

The Value Of Getting Together

You have a dollar. I have a dollar. We swap. Now you have my dollar and I have yours. We are no better off. You have an idea. I have an idea. We swap. Now you have two ideas and I have two ideas. That is the difference. But there's another difference. A dollar only does so much work. It buys so much potatoes and so more. But an idea that fits your business may keep you in potatoes all your life.

College professors are proverbially absent minded and many stories are told about this line. One is told about the late Professor Cleveland, beloved of all Bowdoin men of several decades ago. One day the professor had a powerful electric current running over an insulated wire in the class room.

Then, leaning absent mindedly upon the nearest student, he said: "Now, Mr. Smith, will you kindly touch that wire?"—Portland Express.

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

MARY GARRETT HAY

Another woman who is well known and very active in Republican national politics is Mary Garrett Hay of New York city. Miss Hay hails from the middle west, and possesses in abundance the middle western qualities of cordiality of manner, progressive outlook and driving force which are needed to make the successful politician of today.

Born and reared in Clay City, Indiana, and educated at Oxford College, Ohio, Miss Hay was early in life brought into social contact with many people through the political activities of her father, Dr. Andrew J. Hay.

Miss Hay started her public activities by joining the W. C. T. U. in Clay City, acting as secretary and treasurer for the Indiana state association.

For four years Miss Hay served the National Suffrage Association as organizer, those being the years when she "lived in a trunk" and traveled from town to town and state to state, helping in legislative work and in suffrage campaigns. In 1913 she was elected chairman of the New York City Woman Suffrage party and has served as its head for seven years, conducting its two strenuous campaigns in 1915 and 1917 and guiding the activities of 500,000 women enrolled under its banner.

When the women of New York state became enfranchised she enrolled as a Republican. She was welcomed into the councils of the party and became a member of the Republican state committee of New York and chairman of the Republican women's national executive committee. In both capacities she is serving the party with efficiency and enthusiasm. At the last convention of the New York state Republican party, held in Saratoga, Miss Hay was made chairman of the platform committee. In this role she has praise from some of the most experienced politicians.

Besides being a suffragist and a Republican, Miss Hay is a well known club woman. She is president of the Women's City Club of New York City, president of the Daughters of Justice in New York, second vice president of the New York State Federation of Women's clubs, ex-director of the General Federation of Women's clubs and a member of many other organizations.

WOOD FORCES ELATED OVER COMMITTEE SELECTIONS; LOWDEN BOOM IS GROWING

FAVORITE CANDIDATE AMONG THE DELEGATES IS STILL A MYSTERY

DUFFIELD, WOOD ADVOCATE, HEADS CREDENTIAL BODY

CHICAGO, June 9.—Warfare over the Wood-Lowden fight, waged so vigorously all last week by the Republican national committee, was resumed today before the convention credentials committee.

Edward D. Duffield, of New Jersey, was elected chairman of the committee, 25 to 16, over G. Jones, of Massachusetts.

WORKED ALL NIGHT TO FINISH PERMANENT ROLL

CHICAGO, June 9.—Working all night at forced draft speed the credentials committee completed the permanent roll of the Republican national convention at 4:30 o'clock this morning. Previous rulings on contests by the national committee were sustained in all but three cases.

In disposing of 103 appeals from the decisions made last week by the national committee, two delegates were taken from Governor Lowden, one in Georgia and one in Tennessee, and given to General Wood, but in the fifth Missouri (Kansas City) district where the national committee refused to seat any one, the credentials committee seated two Lowden men, leaving the ending of the two candidates unchanged.

Robert H. Church, negro Lowden delegate, was the Tennessee case in which the national committee was overruled. He was ousted in favor of Charles B. Quinn, white, instructed for Wood, when Quinn's counsel declared the church faction had bolted the district.

HITCHCOCK CHOSEN FIELD MARSHAL FOR WOOD

CHICAGO, June 9.—The Wood-Lowden fight, waged so vigorously all last week by the Republican national committee, was resumed today before the convention credentials committee.

Edward D. Duffield, of New Jersey, was elected chairman of the committee, 25 to 16, over G. Jones, of Massachusetts.

Ratification Of Treaty Will Be Main Plank For Democrats

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—A declaration in favor of ratification of the treaty of Versailles will be the main plank in the Democratic platform, according to Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who arrived here last night to prepare for the national convention.

Want Men Ordered Back

COLUMBUS, June 9.—A resolution demanding that the miners' officials order their striking drifters at mines to return to work was passed by the Jackson District Coal Association members in session at Wellston.

Washington—Flying squadrons from federal revenue bureau to invade large cities in effort to collect delinquent taxes and penalties.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Delegates to the Republican national convention assembled at the coliseum today for the second session with their views as to who shall lead the party at the polls next November still a mystery, even to themselves.

While giving unopposed approval yesterday to Chairman Lodge's keynote address calling for destruction of the "Wilson dynasty" not a sign of any preference came from the thousands who voted will select the Republican presidential candidate to undertake the job. There were no demonstrations, even for favorite sons; no mention of the "big three" among the aspirants, Wood, Johnson and Lowden.

Working with unprecedented freedom from centralized leadership or "boss" control, the delegates promptly ratified a program designed to make permanent the temporary organization. Adoption of the organization committee's report, a foregone result, will place its gavel in Senator Lodge's hands as the permanent presiding officer and set the convention off on the second stage of its journey with little prospect that it will reach a ballot on the presidential nomination before Friday or possibly Friday night.

Other cases decided early today and completing the roll, all confirmations of the national committee's findings were:

Eleven Lowden delegates from South Carolina seated.

The entire Texas delegation headed by National Committeeman H. E. MacGregor, and reported as split among Wood, Lowden, Johnson and Harding, seated.

The 15 Virginia delegates headed by Representative C. B. Stump seated.

There is probability of further battles on contested seats when the report of the credentials committee is laid before the convention. In some cases, including the Tennessee case efforts to overrule the committee by a vote of the convention were planned.

As the report does not embody any serious departure from the temporary roll or affect enough votes to make it an important object for supporters of any candidate to overrule the committee, however, no long struggle was expected.

Lowden Gaining Strength

Leaders who in other days were the main spring of party action did not share Mr. Hitchcock's views. They continued to talk much of Governor Lowden's strength; while from ranks of Senator Johnson and the Illinois governor came assertions from the candidates themselves that they were satisfied with the situation coupled with expressions of optimism as the outcome of the balloting.

Election of Wood men to the two important chairmanships was regarded by the Wood supporters as tending to aid in holding delegations instructed for him in line during the balloting. Admittedly, any development which would have that effect would be valuable to any candidate.

Aside from guesses as to what the more than 500 undistracted delegates will do when the roll is called for their votes, the main topic of conversation, assertion, counter assertion and conjecture has been the number of ballots through which the "big three" can hold the lines of their instructed cohorts. Should their forces remain firm indefinitely, the search for a dark horse will begin in earnest to break the three-way deadlock that would result.

Little business confronted the delegates when they assembled for the day. With the temporary organization to be made permanent, no speech of the permanent presiding officer was on the program. Matters in order were reports of the resolutions committee as to its progress in shaping up a platform for ratification and that of the credentials committee on the permanent roll of the convention on which the voting will be done.

Whipping Platform Into Shape

The resolutions committee worked late, but it still had many interests to bear from when it resumed today. There has been no lack of advice as to the style of platform architecture to be followed. No subject pertaining to any phase of the national life has been slighted by those who have sought to guide the committee's views.

Among those to be heard today was Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, bearing suggestions he did not outline in advance.

Added importance attached to his appearance because of the fact that the federation is now committed to full political activity under a slogan that no enemy of labor shall gain public office if labor can prevent it.

While the full resolutions committee is engaged with these hearings, however, a sub-committee of 12, named last night by Senator Watson and over which he will also preside, will be actual drafting and fitting of platform planks.

On its face, this move was designed to seek harmony on proposed party declarations of principle, views of all candidates for nomination being represented in the sub-committee personnel. The four United States senators, including Senator Watson who are included, recall vividly diverging views as to treaty ratification on the majority side in the long senate battle.

Medley Gets 'Nother Chance

Joe Medley, brickworker, twelfth and gay streets arrested on a charge of nonsupport of his motherless 11-year old son, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Municipal court Tuesday after hearing both sides of the case. Judge Small decided to give Medley another chance and released him on his own recognizance on his promise to take the lad and care for him properly.

The complaint was made by Maur Medley, sister-in-law of the defendant with whom the boy has lived for some time.

WOODSFIELD.—Carl Jellison, two, Beaverville, drowned when he fell into a rain barrel.

WATSON HEADS PLATFORM COMMITTEE, A WOOD VICTORY

CHICAGO, June 9.—The real job of framing the Republican platform was entrusted to a resolutions sub-committee of 13, while the full committee of 53 appointed by the convention was conducting a public hearing for all of those who had suggestions to offer.

A resolution sub-committee of eleven, headed by Senator Watson, of Indiana, was appointed to frame the Republican platform. The other members are: William Allen White, Kansas; William Heyburn, Kentucky; Senator Reed Smoot, Utah; D. Lawrence Groner, Virginia; Louis A. Coolidge, Massachusetts; Ogden L. Mills, New York; Senator William E. Borah, Idaho; Wallace McCann, Oregon; Governor H. L. Beekman, Rhode Island; and Harris Gilpin, Michigan.

The resolutions committee formally organized by overwhelmingly electing Senator Watson, of Indiana, its chairman, and plunged into the grind of hearings and conferences out of which will come the party's platform.

Hays' Choice Loses

Senator Watson, who for weeks has been in charge of a series of conferences in platform declarations, was chosen chairman by a vote of forty-one to three, only the committee members from Kansas, Maryland and Georgia voting for his opponent, Ogden Mills, of New York. Mr. Mills was head of an executive committee, which compiled the platform suggestions of the committee of 171, and in lobby gossip he was credited with having the support of Will H. Hays, the national chairman, to head also the resolutions committee.

7 Killed, 21 Hurt In A Wreck

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 9.—At least seven persons were killed and 21 were injured, some of them perhaps fatally, when a fast east bound American Express special crashed into the rear of an accommodation passenger train on the New York Central lines about four miles west of this city early today.

Only two of the dead have so far been identified. They are Martin Doyle, of Albany, engineer on the express train, and a two-year-old baby, supposed to be the child of Nellis Croome, of Utica. Mr. Croome was removed to a hospital here unconscious, and the child was identified by the Pullman conductor.

Among the dead also was a man believed to be W. J. Zullo, of Syracuse. The other dead were two unidentified men, one boy and an elderly woman.

The train on which virtually all the killed and injured were passengers, was No. 28, a New York Central passenger train from Buffalo to New York, with two Pullmans, two day coaches and baggage and mail cars. The train which crashed into it was a Michigan Central special of ten cars carrying express for the American Railway Express company.

The rear cars of the passenger train, a Pullman in which 12 passengers were asleep, was split in pieces. Twenty-two people were asleep in the other Pullman. The train had stopped in an open field between Gettysburg and Scotia, because of a defective water pipe in the engine.

C. Robinson, fireman on the train, gave the following version of the accident:

"I went back 20 car lengths and saw No. 28 coming toward me and I stayed in the middle of the track as long as I dared. She kept coming and did not blow her whistle. I waited

LODGE MADE PERMANENT CHAIRMAN OF CONVENTION

CHICAGO, June 9.—Senator Lodge, temporary chairman of the Republican national committee, was selected late yesterday by the committee on permanent organization as permanent chairman, and his name will be presented tomorrow to the convention for approval.

There were three nominations for the place and Senator Lodge was named on the first ballot, over former Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, and Senator McCormick, of Illinois. The vote was: Lodge, 22; Beveridge, 9; McCormick, 7. On motion of the Illinois member the selected was made permanent. The remainder of the temporary organization was recommended for permanent service, without opposition.

Senator Lodge was placed in nomination by William Barnes, of New York; Mr. Beveridge by Governor Goodrich of Indiana, and Senator McCormick by Lieutenant-Governor Ogden of Illinois. No speechmaking followed the nomination and the vote resulted as follows:

G. O. P. DRY PLANK IS URGED BY W. J. BRYAN

CHICAGO, June 9.—William Jennings Bryan strongly urged that the Republican convention introduce a plank in its platform endorsing the eighteenth amendment as interpreted by the Volstead act in an address before a mass meeting of "dry" today.

"All I can say to these Republicans in convention here is that I will be at San Francisco in a more important capacity than I am here," said Mr. Bryan.

"I would rather hold the Republican convention up as an example to the San Francisco meeting than to be forced to have to deprecate its stand, should it dodge this question. The committee handling the framing of the Republican platform should approve what that party has already done through its representatives at Washington."

"If a 'dry' plank is adopted here, I will see that my party embraces the very same words in a similar plank."

START TASK OF FRAMING REPUBLICAN LEAGUE PLANK

CHICAGO, June 9.—Final sifting of issues for the Republican national platform began today in a special sub-committee of thirteen while the remainder of the full resolutions committee of fifty-three continued to hold an open house to hear last minute suggestions and advice.

The league of nations question, conceded to be the hardest still, still uncracked by the platform workers, was the chief matter of speculation as the sub-committee began its deliberations and delegations scanned carefully but without final conclusions the make up of the league's dozen entrants to the real job of writing the league plank.

It includes two senators, frequently opposed to the treaty, two senators who voted for it with reservations, and one other man whose attitude has been less clearly defined.

On the program of the hearings before the full committee were several parties regarded as likely to hold the interest of the members and, perhaps start new news among them. Included in those who were to appear during the day were Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor who brought with him some suggested labor planks, and a delegation headed by Frank P. Walsh asking that the party declare for recognition of the Irish republic.

The sub-committee has for its chairman Senator Watson, of Indiana, who also is chairman of the resolutions committee. He is understood to have prepared a league plank fashioned in part after that adopted by Indiana Republicans, but Senator Borah of Idaho, aided by Senator McCormick of Illinois, is expected to offer an amendment designed to make the declaration nearly coincide with the views of the treaty's irreconcilables.

The fourth senator of the sub-committee is Senator of Utah who with Senator Watson voted for ratification of the treaty with reservations.

Deliberations of the resolutions sub-committee as to the treaty plank were watched with particular interest. There has been an under current of feeling that if it did not satisfy the Johnson-Borah demands for repudiation of the league of nations covenant in its entirety.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 9.—A firm undertone was shown by popular issues at the opening of today's stock market, although rails with the exception of Reading continued under morose pressure as a result of the reduction in the Chicago and Northwestern dividends. Most of the steels, equipments, motors and oils scored variable gains. Crucible soon rose 1 1/2 points, with gains of 1 to almost 2 points for American car, Inland Locomotive, Chandler Motor, Royal Dutch and Middle States Oil. Shipbuilding, utilities and miscellaneous specialties made fractional advances.

THE GRAIN IN THE CHAFF

ACCORDING to all reports, Chicago is a bedlam of oratory, presidential candidates, managers and spellbinders of every degree, contributing to the confusion of a convention that is unprocessed and without a leader worthy of the name.

In all the glittering generalities and noise Senator Harding seems to have contributed the only quiet bit of substance and sense. He told an assemblage that the outcry against high prices was wholly futile in itself. The scarcity in the necessities of life must be cured by a great individual and collective production.

Truer and more timely words can not be spoken. Scarcity of any article in common demand makes for its greater price. That fact is indisputable. Equally true is it that the price can not be lowered by gentry and only remotely affected by legislation. The permanent cure is first more production and second less consumption.

If the thing be a vital necessity, something for which there is no nearly equal substitute a lessened consumption will not be of essential effect, the demand is so far in excess of the supply that even right economy does not work a proportionate reduction.

However, discussion of Senator Harding's intemperance is scarce profitable at the present moment and it is sufficient to recognize that he has discovered to the public a golden grain in a mass of chaff.

DECREEING THE EXPECTED

THE federal supreme court has unanimously sustained the validity of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution—national prohibition—and affirmed the constitutionality of the Volstead act, the statute which provides the manner and means of enforcing the amendment.

As to whether was anything else to be expected. No constitutional amendment has ever been nullified by the nation's highest tribunal and the trend of the court has ever been to sustain legislative action affecting intoxicating liquors.

It has been persistently urged, since prohibition was enacted, that it was not being observed and reply sometimes made to this that the officials were awaiting determination of the courts on the whole subject before taking steps for enforcement. For the one there was a basis of a moiety of fact, for the other there should have been none. Liquors are still illegally made and there are places where it is sold in lawless defiance, some quite open. But it was not to be expected that millions would suddenly change their habits and practices, and, of course, cupidity would naturally tempt others to take a chance. On the whole, though, the people generally have accepted an accomplished fact in good spirit and the very other that that intoxicants are selling for ten and twenty times the price they rated at in license days is the most conclusive demonstration that there is a fair degree of enforcement.

Our conviction has always been that there was prohibition enacted, it not only could, but would be enforced. So far we have neither seen nor experienced anything to cause any doubt to the contrary.

FOR WHAT ARE MEN DYING?

A PECULIAR situation exists in Europe. Russia is at war with Poland and Ukraine. According to cable reports, vast and well equipped armies are engaged on either side and terrible battles are being fought.

The strangeness of the situation lies in the condition that no one can see from either side as to why the bloody quarrel. A vague idea has been thrown out that the Bolsheviks are seeking to subjugate Ukraine, which seceded from All Russia when the general collapse came, just as did the north and eastern parts and there is a faint admission that Poland has attempted to seize territory that the Bolsheviks regard as being peculiarly their own.

There may be and again there may not be some substance in either one, but the outside world would like to know what is the situation and exactly what provoked it. Not altogether is it going to be content in the mere naked information that Poland and Ukraine are striving against the common enemy of mankind. The world thinks well enough of both to wish to know what is the truth about them, that is to say it wishes some confirmation of the truth that it is in and is getting a trifle shaky because their seems to be some sort of a conspiracy to keep the understanding of the situation away.

The Chicago convention is not without its humorous features. For instance there is "Jake" Harmon, candidate for president. You don't know Jake, neither do many other people, for that matter, for he is to fame unknown, though fortune has smiled upon him abundantly and suddenly, and because of the latter are vast aspirations born in his heretofore humble bosom. To shorten the story "Jake" appeared in Oklahoma concurrently with the oil boom and he struck several gushers and over night found himself worth more millions than he often was cents. His engaging quality is shown in the fact that he was originally a Wood booster and you know they were all qualified through the size of their boodle. After being elected a delegate to Chicago he fell out with Wood and remembering the size of his Wood contribution, and there was more where that come from, his fellow delegates promptly "favorably mentioned" him for president. Jake bit and thinks that is what he really is, but he isn't. He is a camouflage, a smoke screen for the Oklahoma delegation. And, think of it brethren, such are the high and noble resolve of the leaderless and unbossed delegates, who are assembled at Chicago. Isn't it to laugh! Especially when we see further the fellow, who glibly admits he took money from both Lowden and Harding managers, re-elected national committeeman.

A federal expert predicts five dollar wheat and three dollar corn before another year rolls around, basing his forecast on a two-thirds crop of wheat and three-quarters of corn. All we have to say is that he has his figures on the yield too liberal.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

COUSIN CECIL STILL REMAINS A PROBLEM.

Wonders will never cease; neither will romance. At one of the story stations that our train stopped at I decided for a breath of air, and while standing peacefully on the platform I heard my name called in a strangely familiar and masculine voice. I looked up—and there stood Cecil himself, waving frantically as he ran down towards me.

I confess that I almost passed out from excitement and fright. The boy was certainly mad or something akin to that, to dare to follow me after all that had occurred at home. Still may be you can imagine how I thrilled at the thought of his reckless courage. I did for I am true female all through.

There was nothing for me to do under the circumstances but to stand rather coolly and look my ardent young cousin up and down—questioning. This I did. Did it bother him in the least? It did not. Say, little book, everything I do seems but to thrill him and egg him on. I fancy this is the real form of true love. It's terrifying to the very young.

Dear, oh, dear, that mad boy had in some way found out that I was being sent up to Boston, in solitary confinement, or words to that effect, and he simply couldn't see it, and decided to follow me. Now that he is here I do not know what is to be done with him. I am flustered for this looks out at home. No one, not even Aunt Cecelia, would believe that Cecil is really a darling Sir Galahad, desirous of helping the lady of his dreams.

In her hour of trial. On the contrary, I as well as Cecil will be released of worries that are well, unmentionable to say the least. I am up in the air, and all that Cecil worried about was at I decided for a breath of air, and while standing peacefully on the platform I heard my name called in a strangely familiar and masculine voice. I looked up—and there stood Cecil himself, waving frantically as he ran down towards me.

Well, one blessing was that he got me into the Pullman, and I traveled in peace for the rest of the way. He sat opposite and just decimated me with his eyes in an embarrassing way. It kept reminding me of those hot kisses of his, and of the possessive way he has of holding one to him. I shivered and blushed under his gaze, and he seemed happy as a lark at the signs of my discomfiture. Men are truly queer animals. Oh, very animal some of them.

Cecil told that the family has no idea that he is on his way to Boston, for he got the train long before I did, and in fact watched me being led by the family to my particular car. He told me also of how dad and mother had nearly come to blows over me, and my growing indifference to the conventions, and of how mother said she would not have a daughter of hers trading her name through the dirt, come what may. At this father, it seems, got puffed, and told mother that some mothers simply adore their daughters to desperation, etc., etc. I'm glad I have such a loyal champion. I can tell you.

The family thinks that Cecil has gone to visit some friends in Philadelphia, which is in an entirely different direction from my own. However, there is never any knowing just how much the family does really know, or suspect—that's what a family is for after all. I think, dear, oh dear, that provoking Cecil is part of the family prerogative (my father), and he sits and stares at me and I know not what to do with him at all, now with myself, which is worse.

One morning three months later, Billy Jr. appeared tired, red and hungry, in front of a ranchman's door, and was first seen by the Chinese cook, who opened the kitchen door of the long adobe house to see what the weather was like. There was Billy by the well, trying to get a drink out of the almost empty bucket on the well-curb.

Billy's first thought when he saw the Chinaman was to run away, for he had been so badly treated lately—shot at, stoned and half-starved—that he had lost some of his assurance and confidence in people and preferred to look them well over but he got too near. But the Chinaman appeared so inoffensive that when he rubbed his eyes to see if it really were a large, live Billy-gout by the well; his first thought being that he had not quite got over his optimism pipe of last night. But when Billy Jr. beated a good morning to him he came out of his stupor, walked to the well, and drew a bucket of water for the tired, thirsty beast.

From that day Billy was a fast

New-York - Day - By - Day

NEW YORK, June 9—
Considering the price.
You have to pay.
For a lemonade these days.
I always try my best.
To get my money's worth.
And I was with Jimmie Allison.
Up on Ziegfeld's roof.
And we ordered lemonade.
And I drank mine.
And had eaten the cherries.
And the slice of pineapple.
And the slice of orange.
And there was nothing left.
But a piece of lemon.
And Art Heilmann's hand.
Was playing a fox trot.
And I was sitting.
Near a little guy.
Who played a saxophone.
And I hit into the lemon.
And he hit a sour note.
That sounded like.
Stepping on a dog's tail.
But he was game.
And went on playing.
And I took another bite.
And there was a wild shriek.
Out of the saxophone.
And a fat fellow.
Dancing the fox trot.
Did a split.
And the saxophone player.
Came over to us.
With his mouth in a pucker.

progressive outlook and driving force which are needed to make the successful

Born and reared in Charlestown, Indiana,

For four years Miss Hay served the National Suffrage Association as organizer, those being the years when she "lived in a trunk" and traveled elected chairman of the New York City Woman Suffrage party and has served as its head for seven years, conducting its two strenuous campaigns in 1915 and 1917 and guiding the ac-

Hatchet Victim Barely Alive

Mrs. Sarah Anderson, of Stewartsville, New Boston, who was brutally assaulted by her husband, Samuel Anderson, Saturday evening, is now in a sinking condition this morning at her home.

Relatives have been in constant attendance at her bedside since she was removed from Hempstead hospital at Monday evening. About nine o'clock Tuesday evening, Mrs. Anderson took a change for the worse and she was not expected to survive through the night. This morning relatives reported that she was so weak that she was not expected to live from one minute to the next.

Anderson, the hatchet-wielder, remains a prisoner in the New Boston jail. He has not changed his attitude of calmness since his arrest and does not seem to worry over his fate or the seriousness of the charge which will be placed against him in case of his wife's death. Mayor J. S. Davis said Tuesday night that the charge of assault with intent to kill would be changed to murder as soon as Mrs. Anderson passed away.

Big Damage Suit Filed

LEWISTON, June 9.—Lidia Anderson as administratrix of the estate of J. D. Anderson deceased, has brought suit in Common Pleas court through Attorneys E. L. Cohn and W. L. Ellis vs. John Burton Payne, director general of railroads as agent, asking damages in the sum of $15,000, as the result of the death of her husband, J. D. Anderson, on the night of January 21, 1920.

In her petition the plaintiff sets out that J. D. Anderson and some forty other living in this county, were employed at the Norfolk and Western shops in Kenova, W. Va., and with the consent and approval of the defendant company and the director general of railroads, used the Kenova bridge in going to and from their work. It is set out that the bridge is a double track structure a mile in length and dangerous to pedestrians when trains are going in both directions.

That on or about the 21st day of January, 1920, about 9 p. m., defendant carrying a lighted lantern in his hand started across the bridge on the walk between the two tracks, being on his way to work. That after descent of a short distance on said board walk a freight train approached in a southerly direction on the west bound track and in order to prevent being struck by said train stepped upon the east bound track and continued on his way, when a wreck train entered the bridge from the Ohio side and running at the rate of about 40 miles an hour, without sounding bell or whistle or showing a headlight of any kind, struck, knocked, hurled him from the bridge and killing him instantly. Negligence on the part of the defendant company and its agents is alleged and damages asked in the amount above stated.

"ABANDONED BABY" GETS BABY BUGGY

With the element of mystery still surrounding the abandonment of the little ten day old baby in the orchard back of the house of Will Anderson, between South Portsmouth and Fulton, Kentucky, Times men again visited the scene of the abandonment Tuesday evening, and went over the ground in hope of turning out something overlooked which would lead to a solution of the affair.

The little baby girl was easily recognized in the arms of Mrs. Anderson and smiled sweetly upon the two visitors. The child's eyes, which seemed to have contracted a severe cold from the exposure Friday morning, are improving, and the little miss is now able to look around and observe her new surroundings.

The Lewis Furniture Company of Portsmouth has sent a handsome baby buggy to the Andersons, and Mrs. Anderson expressed her gratitude for ground in hope of turning out something overlooked which would lead to a solution of the affair.

"I feel sometimes that I want to know who the parents are," Mrs. Anderson said Tuesday evening. "and sometimes I feel that I don't want to know."

A reward of $25 has been offered by The Times for any clue that will solve the mystery.

WILL SET ASIDE; NEW TRIAL IN CASE ORDERED BY JUDGE

When the jury in the case of Frank L. Skiles, as guardian of Mary Pemberton-Luther, an incompetent, against Henry Stillner and others, returned a verdict in Common Pleas court Tuesday afternoon setting aside the will of William Pemberton, World War soldier, Judge Thomas promptly sustained a motion offered by attorneys for the proponents of the will, setting aside the verdict and granting a new trial. The motion was sustained by the court on the ground that the verdict was against the manifest weight of the evidence.

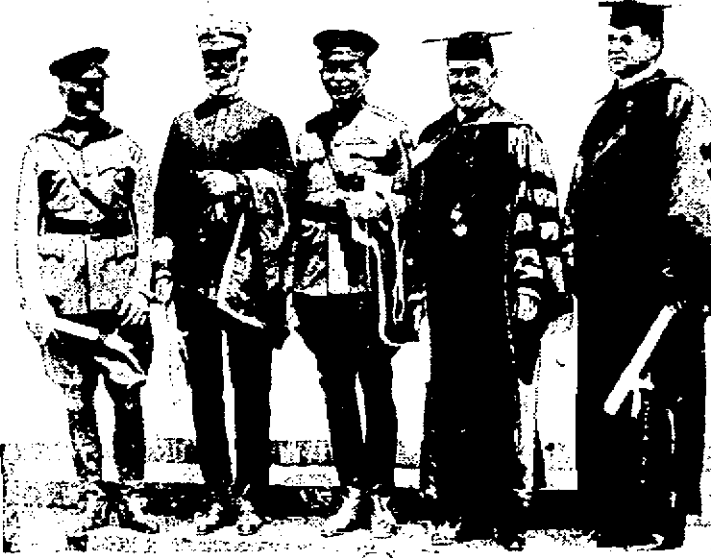

The jury deliberated on the case nearly an hour before reporting with its verdict in which the entire panel concurred. Robert G. Bryan was foreman.

Pemberton died Dec. 23, 1913, leaving his estate, consisting solely of a $10,000 war risk insurance policy under his will to his uncle, Henry Stillner, Lakeside man, but the policy was taken out in the name of the testator's sister, Mrs. Luther as sole beneficiary. Still was then brought on behalf of Mrs. Luther to set the will aside on the grounds of want of mental capacity and undue influence. This was strenuously denied by proponents of the will and strong evidence was adduced at the trial to combat the contention of the contestant.

There appears to be some question whether the government will pay the insurance money to as distant relative as Stillner, who was an uncle of Pemberton by marriage, even though the will is eventually sustained as the policy, it is claimed, limits the beneficiaries to closer kin.

Attorneys Dannon & Rannon for the contestant and Attorneys Blair and Blair and Harry Ball for the other side.
